About myself	My name is Deissy and I am a Career Nanny with over ten years of experience supporting UHNW families in roles requiring discretion, structure, and exceptional standards of care. My background includes working with school-aged children in high-expectation environments, maintaining complex schedules, facilitating academic and extracurricular development, and ensuring a consistent, nurturing, and well-managed household experience for the children. I am known for being warm, proactive, organized, and highly communicative, while navigating fully staffed households with professionalism and composure. I hold a Degree in Psychopedagogy (Child Development &amp; Learning Science), complemented by Montessori training, and have previously worked as a teacher and early childhood specialist. This foundation allows me to support children's cognitive, emotional and social development with evidence-based practices, personalized approaches, and a calm, respectful tone. I am skilled in academic support, homework supervision, executive function routines, and fostering independence through positive structure and clear boundaries. My experience includes rotation schedules, international travel, and multi-residence households. I am familiar with packing and organizing for travel, managing transitions between homes, supporting children in new environments, and collaborating with private aviation, travel coordinators, or personal assistants as needed. Families I have supported have consistently valued my discretion, attention to detail, and ability to maintain a stable and grounded environment for the children regardless of external pace or complexity.

I am fluent in Spanish, speak intermediate Italian, hold a valid U.S. passport, and come with a clean driver's license and driving record. I am fully flexible and able to provide schedule support as needed by the family

I also hold CPR/First Aid certification, as well as formal training and certifications in areas that support my understanding of child development, including Updates in Neuropsychological Evaluation, Supporting Children with Difficulties in Reading and Writing, and Cognitive Alterations in Infants. These credentials allow me to provide informed support around learning profiles and developmental needs

I believe that what distinguishes my work is a combination of education-based care, emotional intelligence, and logistical reliability, all delivered with discretion, respect, and consistency. I would welcome the opportunity to align with a family seeking a long-term professional who values structure, warmth, and high standards in everyday childcare.
